

Protecting Our Guests
and Our Industry

2008 TOURISM SAFETY & SECURITY CONFERENCE

Hosted by Anaheim Police Department, AOCVCB, Hilton Anaheim, CTSSA

"The best training conference of its kind in the nation."

The California Tourism Safety & Security Conference is a one-day training conference dedicated to improving visitor and employee safety at tourism destinations and venues.

Tourism is more sensitive than most industries to concerns over safety and security. Recent incidents of crime, terrorism, civil disorder, and natural disasters make it clear how vulnerable tourism is to such concerns. These incidents also demonstrate some of the challenges police and security professionals face in protecting and serving visitor communities.

Some tourism destinations are successfully confronting these challenges. In building on the training from the previous conferences, the 9th annual Tourism Safety & Security Conference will highlight the principles, best practices, legal strategies, and tools & technologies which have emerged in recent months and are proving successful. With a diverse audience, and a unique blend of nuts-n-bolts training and social networking, this annual conference has grown into the largest of its kind in America. As always, the 2008 Conference will feature new speakers presenting fresh, timely topics, plus the very latest tools, technologies, and services for protecting tourism venues.

Thursday May 1, 2008

Hilton Anaheim

SAVE THE DATE

Additional details and registration information will be forthcoming. For questions, contact Dave Wiggins at dwiggins@anaheim.net

